Governor Palmer's Veto of the Lord's Prayer.

When Governor Palmer vetoed the bill for the Lord's Prayer, he made extensive use of the veto power, and having vetoed one of the projects of the Quinby bill, that paper "went for him" in the following sarcastic strain:

Governor P. finds the "Lord's Prayer" in a file of bills awaiting his approval, and, cogitating profoundly upon abstract constitutional points, writes out the following message:

To Hon. William Smith, Speaker of the House of Representatives: I am unable to approve the bill for an "Act to obtain daily supplies, and to avoid the paths of temptation," which has originated, as I am informed, in the House over which you preside. My objections to this bill are founded upon constitutional grounds, and are as follows:

1. The presentation of the different subjects matter in the title of the bill are a direct violation of constitutional enactment; and upon examination of the bill itself it will be found that solicitation is made not only for a supply of daily bread, and for an avoidance of the paths of temptation, but for the liquidation of debts without due consideration—a gross and palpable infringement upon the vested rights and lawful obligations which are the very basis of free government.

There can be no authority for "the forgiveness of debts in such a manner as the debtor may relinquish his own claims upon others," and the features of the bill afford grounds of suspicion that some mischievous and dangerous intention is in view.

The third line of the first section provides that a certain "will" or authority be extended over the State of Illinois, as a portion of that planet upon which we reside, in the same manner and to the same extent as the said authority exists in another and an unknown sphere.

This provision is not only special legislation in its worst form, but actually fixes upon the domination of uncertainty and probably unconstitutional laws, and is a further proof, to my mind, that the objects contemplated in the bill are simply the furtherance of private and selfish interests.

I have had occasion heretofore to maintain the rights and dignities of the State of Illinois, when threatened by usurpation, and I take this occasion to affirm the position set forth in a prior message to the General Assembly. In the case now under consideration, the proposition to subject the State of Illinois to a centralized power possessing a presumed despotic sway, and which would completely obliterate that inherent sovereignty claimed to be inalienable under our form of government, is a measure fraught with the utmost danger to our liberties.

There are further objections which might be consistently urged against the measures herewith returned. The phraseology is not familiar nor in proper form, while legal effect of some portions of the bill not commented upon above would, in my opinion, be subversive of private as well as public character.

I may say, in conclusion, that if the bill had been so amended as to apply only to cities of 100,000 inhabitants and over, and an emergency clause attached, I would have no hesitation in approving it.

Ludicrous Scene in a Pulpit.

A South German paper relates the following: In a Bavarian town of the most pronounced Catholic orthodoxy, the priest preached last night against the Old Catholics, and related such horrible things about them that his pious hearers were literally horror-stricken at Old Catholic impieties. At last the preacher cried out: "The Old Catholics are so vile that they will all be cast into the pit, and if what I tell you is not true, may the devil take me now on the spot!" His excitement was terrible, and he so struck the cushion that the book fell from it. Not far from the pulpit there sat an American, who had a negro servant with him, to whom he beckoned to take the book up to the priest, who, perhaps, had never seen one of those sons of Ham in his life. The negro at once obeyed, and as he mounted the lowest of the pulpit steps, the devil might come and take him if what he said against the Old Catholics was not true. Although the negro went softly, the preacher heard his footsteps, and, turning around, saw a black object solemnly, steadily and surely approaching him. He looked at him with terror, and believing that he would be the next instant collected by his Satanic Majesty, he cried out, with trembling voice: "If, after all, possible that there may be good people among the Old Catholics," turning then around to see if the object had disappeared, he saw it still steadily approaching. The perspiration burst out on his brow, and full of despair he called out: "There are even many good people among the Old Catholics!" Thinking that this would suffice, he turned around, but what was his horror to find that the object was close at hand, fingering himself in the very grasp of the preacher, turning partly to the negro and partly to the congregation, he cried out: "May the devil come and take me if all the Old Catholics are not better than we are!" The terrified priest flinched from the fright, and it was only after some time that he recovered.

PROF. SHELLE, in his lecture last night on "Mirabeau," very eloquently wished for such a thundering orator to turn loose on the Board of Regents respecting Prof. Carr's case. It were better to have a little genuine thunder from heaven to treat them to.

THE New Orleans emule has long been premeditated and the details were arranged with deliberation. Throughout the State the White League has been organized for the avowed purpose of controlling the coming election. Not long since, the Shreveport Times, which now endorses the action of the New Orleans mob, gave an intimation of the purposes of the White League. In an article addressed to the colored people that paper said: "We tell you now, and let it be distinctly understood that you have fair warning, that we intend to carry the State of Louisiana in November next, or else will be a military territory." The object of the McEnery faction in getting possession of the State government is to control the election, and the alleged maladministration of Kellogg is made the pretext for resorting to force to accomplish their designs.

THE Supreme Court, after two years' of travail, has given birth to a decision in the matter of the opening of Fourteenth street, between Broadway and Franklin street. The decision is a sort of abortion, so far as any definite good is concerned. It only pronounces that the County Court had no jurisdiction in the matter. It is the opinion of some well informed persons we have heard remark upon the subject, that the street will be opened anyhow; that the present state of the thing is a crying nuisance that no one will further object to being abated. But this is only conjecture. It is a little singular, by the way, that two of Oakland's leading men, so-called—Wilcox and Potter—should be so directly concerned in barricading the streets in such an important part of town as that in the immediate vicinity of the City Hall. Wilcox wants we don't know how much money for the center of an important street, that is opened and improved on either side, and thus there remains a lot of unsightly old rookeries—but everybody knows all about it. Potter, near by, keeps digging and dragging along with regard to that triangular nuisance at the junction of the three leading streets of Oakland, just as if he were a sort of local lord of creation, and would yet compel the people to purchase room to walk by his otherwise extensive grounds. We doubt if any poor devil would be permitted to make such a public nuisance of himself as in these instances Wilcox and Potter have exhibited themselves. Perhaps they have a right to do these things, but it looks very much as if might were at the bottom of it. At least, there is a good deal of the spirit of greed displayed in the matter at which the general and unselfish public is of course much disgusted.

THIS time it is an Oaklander and a "sport" at that, who having wandered into the tiger's lair, gets "scooped"—and squeals. It was no uncommon thing a few years ago for honest countrymen to fall into the clutches of the San Francisco harpers and get fleeced; but of late such instances have been rare. The raid upon the gamblers by the press some time since stirred up the police, and most of the games were closed; if any were carried on, it was by stealth. But the police surveillance was only upon the professional gamblers and their well-known haunts. In nearly all of the leading hotels of the city the "card" rooms have been thronged with high-toned sports—prominent lawyers, judges, physicians, brokers, merchants, capitalists, and possibly ministers—and "poker," "freeze-out" for whiskey, "casino," "cribbage," and all the other interesting games were enjoyed uninterruptedly. The legal interdiction did not affect these respectable dens. It seems that the professionals have taken advantage of the leniency shown the gentlemanly gamblers and the hotels, and opened a faro game in Room 46 of the Lick House. The other day Mr. Cronin, who resides in Athens and runs the bar, billiard and card rooms of the Grand Central Hotel, went to town and in some unexplained manner got into Room 46, from whence he emerged minus several hundred dollars. He sought consolation at the police headquarters. The proprietor of the game in Room 46 was arrested and gave bail. When the case was called in the Police Court the complaining witness did not appear. It is very naturally inferred that the case was compromised by returning the money. If Cronin had won a thousand dollars from the "banker" and the latter had "squealed," what redress would he have had—how much sympathy would he have received? And yet, what is the difference between the Grand Central "sport" and the San Francisco "sharp"? But it is evidently high time that the authorities of San Francisco took steps to break up the hotel "hell" and prevent our country "sports" from falling into the toils of the city gamblers. And Mr. Cronin should refrain from indulging his sporting propensities outside of the gilded precincts of the Grand Central.

THE MATTER OF SCHOOL DESKS.

The Board of Education having advertised for bids to furnish the Franklin, or East Oakland school building in course of erection, with seats and desks, has resulted in the exhibition of those articles of various styles at the City Hall. And thereby hangs a tale. Of the half dozen samples of school-desk manufacture in question, only one is a California production—that of Palmer, on Mission street, San Francisco. All the others are importations, and humiliating as it may appear, and with no desire to disparage the efforts of Mr. P., we must say that the eastern styles are far superior in everything that go to make a satisfactory school desk and seat. Any one can see this at a glance. In fact, there is no comparison at all. The Palmer style of seat is specially objectionable—it is as suggestively offensive on the score of comfort, as the high narrow-constructed boot-heel of a hoodlum or fire jakey. So much for that.

The question is—Why can't California compete with the Eastern States on this very important manufacture of school desks and seats? Well, we are told that our reason is, that our foundries are above turning out suitable castings for this sort of furniture—a silly enough reason to be sure. That the country produces suitable woods for such purposes, and the inventive genius every way equal to the occasion, there can be no reasonable doubt. While we are about it, we might ask why Oakland mill-men do not branch out a little in this school desk line? One of the desks on exhibition at the City Hall, is from the little town of Sterling, Ill., whose manufacture of school desks alone has made it almost a national reputation. There is no good reason why an important business of the same kind could not be established in Oakland; ready communication with all parts of the coast, including Mexico and the Islands of the Ocean, is certainly an advantage in our favor over eastern manufactures. At all events, the field for the manufacture of this very important item of school furniture in California, is practically unoccupied; and in the light of so many new school buildings going up throughout the State at present, which are insignificant in number compared with the demands of the future, our local men of enterprise should make the most of the situation.

ABOUT STREET REPAIRS.

The noticeably bad condition of San Pablo avenue suggested an interview with the City Marshal, who informs us that there is no adequate provision either in the way of a State or local law for the proper repairs of streets within the limits of Oakland. This is an unfortunate state of things, considering the large amount of macadamized work done and still doing. San Pablo avenue will have to be entirely repaved as the macadam is so worn out that in the winter season it is little better than one long mud-hole. It was of course not rightly done to begin with, and no repairs having been made in time, there is nothing left but to do the work over again, and that pretty soon. It was originally macadamized with soft rock, and where not cut through in sharp chuck-boles, it is practically worn out. According to the Marshal's views, it would be as bad as putting new wine in old bottles to tinker any with this road.

But even those best paved streets throughout the city need constant attention to preserve them properly. It is the most unwise condition of things that permits the city improvements to go to ruin in the manner described. In the first place, there should be more attention paid to the sprinkling of streets as a matter of economy, and in the next, there should be a way of enforcing a system of repairs. An inconsiderable sum in comparison, expended at the proper time, would continue a macadamized street in good condition for years longer than under the present negligent ruling. After the proper owners along the line of a street have paid for a good job of macadamizing, the city ought to see that the improvement is properly taken care of and made to serve a reasonable time.

Since the article about street repairs was in type, we happened to meet with a gentleman well informed about city affairs, who says that a bill was carefully prepared and forwarded to a member of the Alameda delegation in the Legislature last Winter—said bill providing for the proper repair of streets. For what reason, will probably never be known, but the member in question evidently pocketed said bill, and didn't even deign to substitute any other bearing on so important subject. Hence the needed legislation had to be delayed at least two years, and the city will be infinitely the loser of thousands upon thousands of dollars, unless the local legislative body—the Council—should conclude to exercise discretionary powers and provide some practicable plan for preserving the streets according to the amount of improvement made.

From what we can learn from parties who have made the subject a study, the vermin that is making havoc among the flower garden in Oakland, is no more nor less than the gopher. That this animal should have the courage or cheek to come right into the most thickly settled portions of town—tackle a flower pot in a window, as it were, calls for serious remark. If we had no police force with a Captain, or paid Fire Department without an alarm, such things might consistently be without exciting special wonder.

A MATCH race to have taken place between the Agricultural Park course to-day between the roadsters of two well-known Oaklanders; but Mr. Cronin's little misfortune in Room 46 of the Lick House broke up the race. It is said that Cronin was stakeholder in the match and the money he lost at faro included the stakes. The owners of the horses recovered their money, but declared the race off.

REGENTS SALE OF UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA PROPERTY AT BRAYTON HALL, OAKLAND, SATURDAY, Saturday, Sept. 19, '74, AT 2 O'CLOCK P. M.

The Regents of University of California by virtue of authority legally vested in them, having by formal action of the Board determined to sell at PUBLIC AUCTION, that very desirable property recently occupied by the University, situated in the City of Oakland, and known as blocks
One Hundred and Seventy-three, One Hundred and Ninety-two, One Hundred and Ninety-three,
Also the structure known as the COLLEGE OF CALIFORNIA BUILDING, being situated on block 17;
Also the SPANISH BUILDING fronting on Harrison street, being 35x100 feet, three stories high, and subdivided into small rooms suitable for a hotel building;
Also the structure known as the BOARDING HOUSE, and now standing partially on Thirteenth street, being 50x60 feet, with L 2x30;
Also small brick building 6x12, also sheds, fencing, out-houses, furniture, water pipes, gas-fittings and other detached property on the grounds;
Hereby announce that the sale of said property will take place at Brayton Hall, Oakland, on the 19th day of September, 1874,
At 2 o'clock P. M., by E. C. SESSIONS & CO., Real Estate Auctioneers, under the management of H. A. COBB, Auctioneer of the firm of Maurice Dore & Co.
Each block will be sold in twelve large subdivisions, 50x100 each.

TERMS OF SALE:
One-quarter Cash;
One-quarter in One Year;
One-quarter in Two Years;
One-quarter in Three Years.
Deferred payments bearing interest at the rate of eight (8) per cent, per annum, payable quarterly. Principal and interest payable in United States gold coin. Ten per cent, deposit payable upon fall of the hammer; balance of cash payment on delivery of deed, and if not so paid, unless for want of title, (ten days being allowed for search,) then said ten per cent, to be forfeited and the sale to be void.
Instruments of sale at purchasers expense.
An abstract of title can be seen at the office of the Auctioneers.
All sales subject to confirmation by the Board of Regents.

We would call special attention to the many desirable features attending this sale. The entire property is centrally located and eligible in all respects. Twelfth street, one of Oakland's great thoroughfares, is universally acknowledged, in point of importance and future prospects, to be second only to Broadway, which is distant one block westerly from the above described property. The entire Twelfth street frontage can be immediately and conveniently improved or built upon, and the balance of the property will soon be required for similar uses. The Grand Central Hotel is diagonally opposite, and the City Hall, City Market and many valuable business improvements within a short distance. The concentration in the immediate vicinity of all the horse railroad lines and main avenues of approach from the country, guarantee rapid and steady increase in value. The salubrity of climate, educational facilities, frequency and accessibility of communication with San Francisco, the intended improvement of the Oakland Harbor by the United States Government (now ordered) the rapid increase of population and the many other favorable features well known to the community, cause Oakland to already rank as the second city in the State, and insure a promising future.
The desirability of the property, as well as the unusually easy terms and low rate of interest at which it is offered, render the present a rare opportunity for the acquisition of valuable property in the heart of this progressive city.
Maps of the property will soon be ready, and can, with further particulars, be obtained either of MATRICE DORE & CO., 326 Pine street, San Francisco, or E. C. SESSIONS & CO., 460 and 462 Eighth street, Oakland.

Part's Farewell.
To be played at Kennedy's benefit by Messrs. John Guerin and Willie Warren, will be well worth the price of admission. Mr. Guerin is hard to beat in Dutch characters.

Wanted.
A respectable young lady living with her parents, as an apprentice with Mrs. Wharton. Enquire at the business place, No. 474, Eighth street, between Broadway and Washington.

To Let.
A fine large business store-room, next the new post office on Ninth street. Enquire of J. S. G. Gordon, at Gordon's Restaurant.

Attention, Ladies.
Mrs. Wharton has opened a place of business on Eighth street, No. 474, where she has a large and selected stock of hair goods. Ladies' and children's hats cut, dressed, and shampooed in an improved manner. Hair, brows, and curls renovated on the shortest notice. Medical and mineral bath establishment for ladies and children. See the advertisement in another column.

Oakland vs. San Francisco.
Crossing the Bay the other day, we met a friend from San Francisco, with a new suit bought in the metropolis. We enquired the price paid, and found to our surprise that the same suit can be bought for $5 less at Harris Bros., 903 Broadway.

Tasney's Express.
Plying between Oakland, Berkeley and San Francisco, will prove a benefit to our public. Mr. Tasney has learned where the other companies neglect, and can be depended on. Anything entrusted to him will meet with immediate attention. Orders may be left at Perry & Berry's, Broadway, Oakland; also, at Davis street, near Jackson, San Francisco.

Notice of Removal.
John Spencer, plumber and gas-fitter, wishes to notify his friends and patrons that he has removed to Old Fellows Building, Eleventh street, where he will be able and willing to attend to their wants. He also wishes to say that he is now under one-third the rent he was, consequently his patrons shall receive the benefit. Gas fixtures can be sold for the same price as in San Francisco. Call and see before going elsewhere.

Base Ball Saturday.
The "Mutuals" of San Francisco will play the "Oaklands" of this city, on Saturday afternoon, on the Tubbs Hotel grounds. The "Mutuals" are reported to be expert players, but it is doubtful whether they are able to "get away" with the "Oaklands." There will also be a match game played on Saturday afternoon, on the Myrtle street grounds, between the "California" nine and we believe the "Grand Central's."

Kishmeyer.
Is undoubtedly the most business landlord in Oakland, in spite of having the best location, opposite the Depot. He has the finest line of business can possibly produce. The very best of wines, liquors and cigars; Berlin, Weissbeer, Wismost, also Bavisch beer, five cents a glass. Shooting gallery, and a No. 1 billiard table, and a Monitor piano. The Old Chief is personally known too well to require any praise of his capabilities in running the best business house in Oakland.

Sound.
An attaché of the Tribune yesterday found a Sharp's pistol, which he is anxious to get rid of. It is one of those nasty little four-barrel institutions that are always going off accidentally and wounding people. We were already horribly "heeled" with weapons tried and true, and if the owner of the "find" will send us his address and an accurate description of the unlawful "weeper," we will charter a dray and have it packed home.

To-morrow Night.
The grand show will take place at the Academy of Music. It will be a benefit to Mr. Matt. W. Kennedy. The programme for the occasion is one of the best ever offered in this city. Luther's Solenne, quartette singers, are among the best on the coast. Mr. Luther has composed two beautiful ballads for the occasion—"How I wish I had a Mother" and "Once more I Love to see my Home." We understand that there will be a large number of people over from San Francisco on this occasion.

THE BORAX REFINERY.
Refining Works—The Teel Marsh Borax Company.
We paid a brief visit yesterday to the refining works of the Teel Marsh Borax Company recently erected on the corner of First and Market streets, nearly opposite the Railroad Depot. The machinery was put in operation on Monday, but owing to an insufficient supply of water, operations were temporarily suspended yesterday. Messrs. Frank and Julius Smith are the proprietors of the refinery as well as of the mines from which the crude borax is procured. There are two borax refineries in San Francisco, Hanks and Steverson's, and the Messrs. Smith formerly had their borax refined at those establishments, but finally came to the conclusion that it would be more economical to erect works of their own here in Oakland. Mr. Frank Smith, one of the proprietors, whom we found on duty this morning, informed us that the process of refining employed at their establishment is a secret, and that no one was allowed to inspect the works. He so far relaxed his vigilance, however, as to unlock the door to a mysterious back room where the crystallization is effected, and furnish us with some facts that may be of interest. After undergoing certain treatment in boilers to rid the borax of impurities, the solution is run off into a number of lead-lined wooden tanks in the room referred to. The tanks are ten feet in length by five and three-fourths feet deep, and three feet in width. Owing to the climate, it takes a much longer time for the solution to crystallize here than in Nevada, and the proprietors will have to provide a number of additional tanks on that account. The mines are being worked at Teel Marsh in Nevada, a place about one hundred and fifty miles distant from Wadsworth, and about the same distance from Carson City, and are said to be the richest borax mines in the world, yielding seventy-five per cent. of mercantile borax from the crude material just as it comes from the bowels of the earth. The borax undergoes the first process of purification, technically called "concentrating," in a refinery at the mines. The product of this initial process is brought here, where it yields ninety-five per cent. The Oakland refinery turns out for shipment two and one-half tons per day. The building is located so far from the Water Company's mains that it was thought to be more economical to dig a well for the water supply, and accordingly a well was sunk 12 feet 5 inches in depth, and 8 feet in diameter. The well fills to within four feet of the surface, but runs in too slow to keep up the necessary supply, and the proprietors contemplate sinking an artesian well. They have now on hand ready for making up, some seven car loads of material here and at San Francisco, and when in working order will turn out two and one-half tons every twenty-four hours. It requires a very large outlay of capital to carry on the business. For instance, the freight on a car-load of the material from the Nevada mines to Oakland is some $900. There is no market here, and the refined borax is shipped to all parts of the world, principally to England, China and Japan, and it takes a long time to get it to market and get returns. A considerable amount is disposed of at the East, and but a very small quantity on this coast.

THE BERKELEY FERRY.
The Competition Route to the City to be Opened Shortly.
The boat to be used by the Berkeley Ferry and Railroad Company, to ply between the Company's wharf, at the foot of University avenue, and San Francisco, is now undergoing repairs at Vallejo. Two of Mr. Safford's employees are now at Vallejo painting the boat. It will be brought down here in a day or two, and the painting finished at the Company's wharf. We paid a visit this afternoon to Safford's shop, where the talented artist, A. M. Campbell, is painting two landscape views to decorate the main saloon of the boat. One is a view of the Berkeley hills as seen from the steamer's deck approaching the wharf, embracing the wharf and intervening landscape and water, the University buildings, the Institution for the Deaf, Dumb and Blind, and the various dwelling houses embraced by the view. The other is a view, from the land, of San Francisco Bay, the city and intervening islands. Mr. Campbell is assisted in his work by Tom Cornish of the same establishment, well-known here for his artistic skill. The paintings are being done from sketches from nature by Mr. Campbell. Although not yet nearly completed, enough can be noted to show that the Berkeley hills have been carefully studied by the artist, and their outlines faithfully reproduced.

The paintings are to occupy either side of the saloon. They can be seen at the paint shop of Mr. Safford, corner of Eighth and Franklin streets, and will well repay the trouble of a visit. The boat will commence to run on the 25th inst.

THE SQUIRREL PEST.
A List of the District Inspectors of the County.
Talk about the grasshopper scourge of Kansas, why that is nothing to the California plague of squirrels and gophers. The former only make their advent every other year, at the worst, and sometimes the farmers of Kansas and other Western States are freed from their ravages for several successive seasons. But the squirrels and gophers are an abiding, omnipresent curse to the tillers of California soil, and it is a difficult and expensive job to undertake to exterminate them. We give below a list of the Squirrel District Inspectors of this County, giving the name of the districts, the date of the respective appointments, and the postoffice address of the inspectors: Palmyra—D. D. Mann, July 20, 1874, Haywood; Mowry's Landing—J. M. Moore, August 3, 1874, Centerville; Union—D. Pratt, August 17, 1874, San Leandro; Townsend—John Ragan, August 17, 1874, Livermore; May—Robert Smith, August 17, 1874, Livermore; Summit—Ira McWilder, August 31, 1874, Altamont; Castro Valley—John Bugge, August 31, 1874, Haywood; San Lorenzo—Geo. GOLDEN GATE ACADEMY.
An Important Private School.
One of Oakland's schools, outside of the public catalogue, is the Golden Gate Academy, which the Congregational Church people have reconstructed and put on an enduring basis. The following item from the Pacific, a religious paper, will be of local interest. No doubt private schools have some advantages over the public schools, chief of which is that where special instruction is taught:
Mr. T. B. Gamwell has retired from the principalship of the Golden Gate Academy, at Oakland. The ampler provision will be made for the successful conduct of this school. The new building for the Preparatory Department is now finished. It will easily accommodate sixty pupils. It has two fine school rooms, a large sitting room for the boys, high, well ventilated sleeping rooms, abundant provision for baths, good grounds for play and exercise, and in Rev. W. L. Johns and wife, all who know them will argue that the school has entire security for the best care and training of the scholars.

A New York Communist.

The Times of the 8th inst. has the following:

The sneak thief who was arrested yesterday (after throwing away his plunder) with a doleful poetic wail in his pocket, ought to be adopted as a hero by the New York communists. This fleeing vagabond stole a pair of gold bracelets and a gold watch and chain. In his jacket were touching allusions to the fact that he was "a waif of life in the current strong." Doubtless there is a great deal of honest poverty that should be relieved, but this man, like the Tompkins Square philosophers, thinks that "property is robbery," and that a "Police force is a despotism." Therefore, he will help himself as he goes along. We commend him to the "hard-handed sons of toil" who never do an honest day's work when they can avoid it. The following refrain was found in his pocket:

"Three signs of life for the bitter cup,
Three heart-wringing sighs from a wretch hard-
A sigh for the past, with its golden lure,
A sigh for the present's woe of rue,
And a sigh for the future's dreary view:
Despairing here in the streets I stand,
Looking in vain for a friendly hand;
Thrust from the path by the busy throng,
As the leaf in the streamlet's swept along,
A waif of life in a current strong,
Art and luxury, reveling mirth,
Wealth from the furthest ends of the earth,
Seem as in mockery tempting spread
Round a shivering wretch lacking daily bread,
Shelter and rest for an aching head."
